

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A received, same signal is distributed to two channels, the received signals on the two channels are demodulated to produce a plurality of data streams on each of the two channels, and the plurality of data streams of one channel is selected to produce from the pluralities of data streams on the two channels.